The Demand

Tomorrow, count how many metrics your dashboard actually tracks, then pick the five that matter most and write them down. Too many numbers isn't more insight — it's Choice Overload that leaves you seeing everything and reading nothing.

The Work

Count how many metrics your dashboard actually tracks right now:
List them all, then circle the five that matter most:
Are you managing the business, or managing the anxiety of not knowing which number matters most?
The metrics you will stop actively watching starting this week:
The five you are keeping, and why each one earns its place:
