078 The Bandaid Scaffolding

Perspective Fieldbook · https://kb.jeffreysummers.com/docs/078-the-bandaid-scaffolding-2/

The Demand

Tomorrow, name one bandaid scaffold currently propping up your operation — internal, external, or personal — that you never actually acknowledged as a sacrifice when you put it in place. Track it, set a teardown trigger, and put it back on the audit cadence. Unnamed scaffolds become permanent by default.

The Work

Name one sacrifice you've been calling a fix — a shift you covered yourself, an invoice you pushed, a repair you deferred:
When did you first put it in place, and did you name it as a sacrifice at the time?
Is this tracked anywhere, or is it invisible scaffolding holding up the operation right now?
The teardown trigger — the condition under which this sacrifice gets addressed for real:
Where you will put it on the audit cadence starting this week: